

Action taken report by Internal Quality Assurance Cell 2021-22

The assessment of our curriculum involved a range of approaches, including student surveys, employer surveys, alumni feedback, faculty input, and discussions during IQAC sessions. Key aspects of the feedback included:

Practical Skills: There was a notable call for more opportunities to develop practical skills alongside theoretical knowledge.

- Skills Development: Students emphasized the need for value added and add on courses to hone and better their skills relevant to latest industry trends
- Research and internship Opportunities: Some students sought more opportunities for research projects, mentorship, and engagement with faculty on research initiatives.

1. Action Taken:

- Value added courses many new value added courses and capacity enhancement programs are introduced aiming to help students improve and refine their skills.
- Research Opportunities: We have expanded research and internship opportunities for students through industry MOU, faculty mentorship programs, and dedicated research facility on campus with faculties available to guide when required.

2. Conclusion:

In conclusion, the IQAC at Adamas University recognizes the vital role of an adaptable curriculum that anticipates the changing needs of our students and the professional world. The feedback we've received has been crucial in shaping our efforts to enhance the educational journey for our students.

Through these endeavours, we are confident that our curriculum has been improved to better equip our students with the necessary skills, knowledge, and practical experiences for successful careers. Our objective is to foster an environment where learning goes beyond conventional boundaries, nurturing students who are flexible, innovative, and socially aware professionals.

Looking ahead, we are committed to continuously refining our curriculum. Ongoing assessments, effective feedback mechanisms, and partnerships with industry stakeholders will be pivotal in ensuring that our educational offerings remain at the forefront of excellence.

The IQAC at Adamas University is grateful for the collaboration and support of all involved parties as we collectively strive for educational progress and excellence.
